Dedication of Elings and Sukup Hall

ISU dedicates Elings Hall and Sukup Hall, the new home for Department of Agricultural & Biosystems Engineering

More than 450 people attended the Sept. 25 dedication of Elings Hall and Sukup Hall, two new buildings that serve as the home for Iowa State University's Department of Agricultural and Biosystems Engineering.

"I'm pleased to dedicate Elings and Sukup halls as the anchors of our beautiful Biorenewables Complex," said ISU President Steven Leath. "They provide a centralized location for our nationally ranked Department of Agricultural and Biosystems Engineering, which has always been a leader in providing engineering solutions to agricultural problems."

New Club: Industrial Technology (ITec) Club

The ITec Club is designed for Industrial Technology majors of either the manufacturing or occupational safety and health options. ITec Club will be affiliated with the accreditation body (ATMAE) in order to enhance opportunities for professional development, scholarships, and networking. The following items are principle goals for the club: leadership, teamwork, collaboration, communication, outreach and practical application. Later this month, four members of the club and academic adviser Tamara Kerns will attend the ATMAE conference in St. Louis, MO.

Photos below are from a club service activity for the department. Students unpacked and assembled storage carts for the tables and chairs that will be used in the Sukup Atrium.
